

In addition to the duties that are designated in the Municipal Code, each member of the Town Council represents the Council and the Town by serving in a number of different local, countywide and regional capacities. These include serving on a variety of commissions, committees and boards to represent Danville.

Councilmembers are appointed to fill these liaison roles annually, following the installation of the new Mayor at the first Town Council meeting in December. While serving in a liaison capacity, Councilmembers attend the scheduled meetings of the commission, committee or board assigned, and report back to brief the Town Council at regularly scheduled public meetings. Where appropriate, the appointed representative brings relevant issues to the full Town Council for input and direction prior to taking action at their assigned commission, committee or board.
